

PROSPECTS ... Resources for recently displaced workers

Southern State Community College is committed to providing education and training solutions to workers in our area who face potential displacement. Our immediate concern is for the well-being of the individuals and families directly impacted by a job loss.

Who can answer my questions?

Southern State has established specific contact people that have been trained to assist students and potential students who have been impacted by recent job displacement. Although there are many people within the college who are willing and able to assist with your questions, please channel your inquiries through these designees as much as possible so we are better able to ensure consistency during this unusual circumstance. There is a contact person on each campus to serve you.
