

Phi Theta Kappa expands SSCC students' opportunities

Southern State Community College will conduct its Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society new student member induction ceremony 6 p.m. Friday, April 22, on the college's Brown County Campus, 351 Brooks Malott Road, Mt. Orab.

"Becoming a member of Phi Theta Kappa is an honor that fewer than 1 percent of students experience," said Connie Huber, SSCC's Phi Theta Kappa advisor. "Students will be inducted into the local chapter Alpha Omicron Eta, as well as an elite international group of high achievers. The opportunities with Phi Theta Kappa are countless and the possibilities are limitless."

Scott Peña will be inducted as the first honorary member of the Alpha Omicron Eta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa. A retired lieutenant of the U.S. Navy, Peña actively promotes the local chapter through his work with Southern State students transferring to Wilmington College where he serves as a recruitment and enrollment specialist.

"Throughout my entire career in the military and after that, one area that remained a constant for me was continuing with my college education. Completing my college degrees has meant achieving a high level of success in my life, accomplishing a goal that can never be taken from me. First, I earned my Associate's Degree, then my Bachelor's degree, then finally my Master's Degree. The key to my professional achievements was taking that first step in earning an Associate's Degree, which served as a strong, solid foundation for all of my future educational goals."

Retired Lt. Col. Kristine Wood has been selected to address the new inductees as the keynote speaker. Wood worked as part the International Security Assistance Force Regional Command North, which supports Afghan National Security Forces in close coordination and collaboration in providing security and disrupting insurgent activities in order to protect the Afghan population. She also served as the Operations Officer in the Provost Marshal Office at International Security Assistance Force's Regional Command North Headquarters. As part of her duties, she was responsible for coordinating U.S. and coalition military police operations throughout the northern region. Her job also entailed partnering with Afghan police in matters of training and human rights.

"Kris Wood's military background gives her a connection to the honorary inductee, and her leadership expertise has benefited Phi Theta Kappa greatly. Through conducting a leadership and team-building exercise for the Alpha Omicron Eta officers, she developed a great rapport with the students they chose to invite her to speak at this landmark induction ceremony."
